Student Success:

GEAR UP program took five students on an overnight college visit to UW Stevens Point, UW Madison, and Northcentral Technical College. The GEAR UP program is also part of the UW Green Bay "Rising Phoenix" program. We have three sophomores accepted into the Rising Phoenix program and will be meeting with their instructional coach in the coming weeks. GEAR UP is part of the Wisconsin Educational Opportunity Programs (WEOP). WEOP also has offered and is hosting an online miniseries called Paying for College. WEOP students and families were invited to sign up for the five week series.

Student & Staff Health and Wellbeing:

Kudos to our middle school advisors, Eric Iversen and Molly Wirsing, for bringing back the Friday Night dances for our students. Emails and messages from a variety of community members have been received thanking our middle school staff for hosting this much needed social event for our students.

Mindful Leaders Empowerment Group (MLEG) also met this last month. I attended this session on the morning of April 11th. MLEG is a community of building administrators who are interested in meeting bi-monthly to connect and collaborate for the purpose of enhancing our experience as an educational leader through collaboration and connection, focusing on the personal side of leadership, creating intention and focus for their individualized approach to leadership, and reflecting, restoring, and resuming our passion for leadership.

Community Collaborations and Partnerships:

In working with Kathy Haskins our district will serve as host in collaboration with several Red Cliff Tribal departments to host Gilbert Brown in May. Gilbert Brown has founded the Gilbert Brown Foundation in hopes of stomping out bullying in schools. The presentation will be K-12 and open to district families.

Excellence:

Two high school students have advanced to participate at the state level Forensics in the prose reading category. Advisor Liz Woodworth will travel to Madison this coming weekend with the two students. Congratulations to Maria P. and Wren S.Z.

Efficient Use of Resources:

On April 10th, I and our Pupil Service Director attended The Challenge Academy's Principals Day at their Fort McCoy site. We have had several students complete this program, with one current student enrolled in it now. We were given an overview of the program and a tour of the entire facility. Insight to their program and questions answered from our "cadet" has given us some insight on what to continue with our programming and areas we can improve to meet our 21st Century students' needs. Mark O'Neill currently serves as mentor to our student. He has spent one day on-site with our student, with one more day scheduled next month.

Chi miigwech.
