WEOP Field Trip

-Presley Smith

From April 16th to April 17th, 13 students from Bayfield High School visited four different colleges. First was the University of Minnesota Duluth, second was the Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College, then St. Cloud State University and finally the Pine Technical & Community College.

Students listened to presentations with information about the colleges and toured each campus. The visits to each college were split up into two separate days, visiting two each day. Students got to try some new technology in a college classroom setting. Students also got to eat food at two of the colleges and learned about how the meal plans work. Elvira Albert says “It was very fun to see the different options for colleges.”

HOROSCOPES

-Wren Zifko

Aries

The predictions for this month are going to be that someone important in your life is going to get chicken pox and that you will survive an incident when a bus almost runs you over. But all and all you don't have to stay worried or be cautious about anything. Because besides the stuff I told you for this month, it's going to be okay.

Veggie of the month: Kale

Taurus

The weather around you is going to be cold and windy but, just around your body and no one else's. So when you are shivering and cold and you complain to other people of your suffering everyone will think that it's a joke because of course to them it's bright and sunny.

Veggie of the month: Parsnip

Gemini

It's not going to be the luckiest month of the year for Gemini but it will not be the worst. The food that you just ordered at the restaurant tastes cold and stiff and the sky is going to be very gray. But the good part of this month is that you are going to make a new friend whose name starts with the letter C.

Veggie of the month: Eggplant

Cancer

This month will be a perfect month filled with sunshine and rainbows and unicorns and hobbits. You'll be prancing around the meadow like a cute little horse smelling the flowers and eating the grass. You will hear the sound of a flute playing in the distance where a mighty castle stands.

Veggie of the month: Carrot

Leo

You might get eaten by a lion this month so be careful and do not go into the woods! Also beware of anyone who has a smiley face print on their clothes for that is a BAD OMEN that means psychological pain. A good tip for this is that you just have to wear a bandana to cover your eyes when you go anywhere in public.

Veggie of the month: Onion

Virgo

A UFO will drop you in a completely random part of Kazakhstan in the middle of nowhere and now you have to find a way to survive in the vast wilderness. In a few years you will already have turned into a complete caveman drinking water from melted ice and eating raw meat. Eww you probably stink too!

Veggie of the month: Beets

Libra

The prediction for all Libras this month will be a night full of sleep paralysis. And a day full of an unusual amount of laughing that you will not be able to control. The sky will be an unusual yellowish color and your clothes will smell like bleach.

Veggie of the month: Green beans

Scorpio

As you are walking down the street you will see someone very familiar at a distance looking at their phone. Low and behold it is a long lost friend you haven't seen in 20 years. You run at them shouting their name with excitement only for them to look up from their phone with a confused expression and say "Um... sir/ma'am, How the flip do you know my name?"

Veggie of the month: Mint (That's a veggie right?)

Sagittarius

You will receive 5 million dollars from an anonymous donor in Portugal, which is quite strange and completely out of nowhere. But hey now you have 5 million bucks so now you can pay off all of your debt! Everybody has some type of debt they have to pay so I guess this is a lucky month for Sagittarius.

Capricorn

You hear voices calling your name at your house but you can't quite make out where they are from. Then all of a sudden that name calling turns into a scream coming from the bathroom! You open the bathroom door and to your horror it is a little goblin who has been living in the walls for a month. The goblin slithered in from the shower water because goblins can not be around water. now your house is completely contaminated by goblin poison and you are going to have to move out. Veggie of the month: Cauliflower

Aquarius

This month you will have a lovely day. Just take it easy today and go for a pleasant walk across a 500 foot long bridge with a mile long drop over a raging waterfall with piercing sharp rocks at the bottom. So lovely.

Vegetable of the month: Cabbage

Pieces

You are sitting down watching the British Baking Show on the TV when all of a sudden you get sucked into the TV. You are now trapped inside your TV and everybody now thinks you are either dead or missing. When you yell for help from the TV screen, no one will hear a single word from your mouth. You'll be trapped inside a never ending loop of the British Baking Show FOREVER!

Veggie of the month: Alfalfa

SPORTS

Baseball

-Max Gordon

On April 18th, Bayfield High School hosted its first baseball home game in multiple years. Going head-to-head against South Shore, this game ended with a close loss of 2-4. With 13 kids returning this year to play, the team will continue to thrive through the next couple of seasons. Having a record of 0-3 as of now, the team is looking forward to achieving their first victory. Kayden Lagrew stated, "The coaches are great, we are still in our rebuilding years but we are looking forward to improving this year." Teamwork and dedication are some of the main factors the athletes have implemented this season. Being able to overcome any outcome of any game is a great skill to have.

Head coach Brett Hulmer and assistant coach Brian Boyd are returning for their second season in a row. Planning on keeping Baseball in Bayfield, they will be proceeding to coach for the upcoming years. Brian Boyd stated, "The baseball team is very optimistic and if they piece together what they have learned at practice, they should be competitive. All in all, the coaches just want Bayfield student-athletes to learn the game of baseball and be able to have fun while learning it." With the amazing athletes and coaches this year, the team is without a doubt skilled enough to become one of the best in the conference in the upcoming years.

Track & Field

-Max Gordon

Having more people this year compared to last has been a big benefit to the team. Being able to run multiple different events has brought success to the Bayfield team this year. Having enough girls (Monet Peacock, Stella Gordon, Sophia Tochalauski, and Kylie Bildeau) this year to create a team for the 4x200m relay, the girls have seen lots of improvement from the beginning of the season. Dashon Tourdot has also seen a huge improvement, Finishing top 2 multiple times in the 55m hurdles, and even taking home a first-place medal.

Only having a couple of meets this month, Quintin Bresette has taken 3rd place at all of them. Performing great in his heat rounds, and was amazing in the 55m and 200m sprints. On the other hand, having only one shot-putter this year has been hard work for Cody Engels, he has placed 1st in his flight and 8th overall. Cody Engels stated, "Track & Field is going quite well in my opinion, I broke my indoor personal record for shot put by 6 feet! Indoor champions have just ended and I'm looking forward to the outdoor season". With the warmer climates now, the team is gonna have to work harder than ever to get used to the outside tracks.
